How the program works:

Have you spent time organizing vacations or trips for your family reunion, a girl's get away, your high school or university class reunions, your church, a golf week end for your friends?

CruisingFree is seeking proven leaders who have experience in organizing travel groups. There are certain nuances in the travel business in addition to earning commissions on travel, you may earn a complimentary vacation for you and your family.

Locations:

As long as you have a telephone and internet access you may join the program. Distance and geography do not affect sales or operating an efficient business. Most consumers prefer to book over the phone and online. You could have your own personal website and your customers may book their cruise online from virtually anywhere. Or, you may book cruises for your customers using our booking system online. And remember, you are using 800 numbers for Cruise Line and CruiseBrothers.com calls. In most cases, you will obtain pricing from the cruise lines via the internet.

Training:

CruiseBrothers.com also offers training and support through online training at homecruiseagent.com, as well as an entire host of information that serves to increase our home based travel agents knowledge base. This includes white papers, marketing articles, access to the cruise line specials, WebEx training videos, announcements, and more.

In addition to extensive online support, incredible "real-world" training classes are offered complimentary.

Our home based travel agents have opportunities to experience cruise ship travel through agent familiarization trips and seminars at sea. Cruise lines want travel professionals to experience their products directly. Studies have shown that this makes for more qualified travel professionals.

Fee Based Benefits:

CruiseBrothers.com offers a comprehensive personalized website so that the home based travel agents are open for business 24/7.
